

CleanEquity Monaco, hosted by Innovator Capital, is pleased to announce a collaboration with The Climate Group, an award-winning international, not for profit organisation, who's mission is to inspire and convince leaders at the top of government, business and society to reduce carbon emissions and accelerate the transition to a vibrant low carbon economy.

Ben Ferrari, Director of Partnerships at The Climate Group said:

“Low carbon technologies and business models are already demonstrably reducing emissions, and are at the same time promoting economic growth. However we need these technologies to be rapidly upscaled to counteract the worst impacts of climate change and help build a strong sustainable economy.

The Climate Group works with governments and global business leaders to drive the deployment of these technologies, showcase how industry barriers can be overcome, and reshape policy frameworks so that they support innovation and investment.

Events like CleanEquity Monaco are vital to this process, because they help accelerate the transition to a prosperous, low carbon future.”
